100 hour Saltire Award success for Alan Craigie

Alan Craigie was presented with his 100 hour Saltire Award in September as a way to celebrate his commitment, enthusiasm and hard work as a volunteer with RVS at the shop in the Balfour Hospital. Alan has been volunteering for some time in various roles and has been dedicated to putting in the hours to achieve his goal. He often takes on extra shifts, is friendly and is a real help to Sharon Winters, local RVS co-ordinator.

Laura Leonard, Youth Development Worker at VAO said,

'I am very proud of Alan and all that he has achieved. He is a very dedicated volunteer and has shown maturity and dedication to helping in the community.'

The hospital shop and trolley is a great service for patients in the hospital – volunteers are charged with stock handling, selling and taking the trolley to patients. RVS are always looking for more volunteers so if you think you would like to get involved please get in touch with VAO on 872897.

Young people from VAO's Befriending Project spread Christmas cheer

The Young People's Befriending Project had a great time on Sunday 25 October when they met together to wrap up Shoeboxes packed full of goodies to donate to Operation Christmas Child, a Christmas Shoebox Appeal. The young people and their befrienders had spent time shopping together, buying thoughtful gifts and supplies to fill a shoebox to be sent to a child who's Christmas may otherwise look a bit sparse.

Streamline has kindly offered to transport the shoeboxes to their collection point free of charge, so they will be winging their way to thankful children in some of the world's poorest countries in time to spread some joy this Christmas.

If you are interested in finding out more about volunteering with the Young People's Befriending Project, please contact Hannah or John on 872897.

National Conversation on a Healthier Scotland

Young people from Connect took part in this event and shared their opinions on how Scotland can become a happier, healthier place to live.

The young people had the opportunity to work alongside members of the public, representatives from the Third and Statutory sectors and Scottish Government to explore and discuss their opinions on health, happiness and wellbeing.

All the young people enjoyed the opportunity to share their opinions and contributed enthusiastically.

Connect is The Place to Pass!

Young people with Autism are being offered support towards sitting and passing their driving test, through the Connect Project's 6 week driving theory and practical course.

Kara Leslie is Connect's Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) Support Worker: 'Our driving course has been running for some time now, and we are really chuffed that two folk have passed their theory tests in the past few months.'

'Approved Driving Instructor Robin Nicolson and myself run the theory part of the course every Tuesday at 2pm – 3pm, in the Board Room at VAO, with our next course starting on Tuesday 10 November.'

'We encourage the young people who come along to work towards passing their driving theory test, as well as getting them started out on the road with practical driving lessons, with Robin or another approved driving instructor of their choice.'

'The course is free of charge and for every 3 theory sessions successfully completed we offer a driving lesson, with the cost covered by Connect.'

'People are welcome to attend for 6 weeks and then Robin and I will review progress with them and they may wish to continue with a further 6 weeks, depending on the progress they've made.'

Robin Nicolson adds, 'Driving is an important skill for living independently, and can be a real bonus when it comes to things like applying for a job.'

'Kara and I provide tailored support when you come along to the sessions – guiding you through the process of sitting - and hopefully passing – your driving theory and practical tests. We offer support such as help with reading, setting realistic targets, and getting you behind the wheel when you're ready.'

Anyone aged 16-25 with Autism who would like to sign up for the next course, or find out more should contact Kara on 872897.

Steven Newlands, who recently passed his theory test and is now looking forward to sitting the practical test, is pictured here with Kara Leslie.

Orkney Podcasts – new ways of listening to local information

Have you ever wished that someone who is both knowledgeable and experienced would tell you more about the best ways to take care of your health? Or maybe you would like to listen to someone speaking about what helps them to improve their happiness?

Health and wellbeing are so important that the Connecting Communities Project has been developing a novel (at least for Orkney) way of sharing information that we can use to make some changes in our lives. Orkney Podcasts will allow Internet users to pull audio files (typically MP3s) from a podcasting Web site (www.orknepodcasts.com) to listen to on their computers or personal digital audio players. They will be broadcasted every Monday and Thursday and the first show will be available sometime at the end of November/beginning of December.

If you are creative and would like to be involved in a production of podcasts, contact Kasha on 872897.

Volunteering Opportunities

HOST UK are looking for Christmas Hosts!

Give the gift of Christmas! Hundreds of adult international students studying in the UK will be facing a lonely Christmas on a deserted University campus. You can invite one or two students into your home for four days of Christmas, learn about their culture, show them your local area and traditions, and invite them to experience your own home life.

Volunteer hosts invite students to visit for a few days at Christmas so the student can experience 'real' Britain, away from university and heavy tourism, and so the host can meet new people and learn about diverse cultures from around the world.

Choose how many people you invite (individuals, pairs or families) and if you would like to meet someone from a specific country. Students and hosts will be matched on interests and availability by a Regional Organiser who will also help you sign up.

There are no specific expectations from a host visit, other than the student should be made to feel part of your family for the short time. Hosts can show their local area, visit friends, attend local events, or just spend time chatting. This is not a tourism opportunity for the student and hosts are not expected to act as 'tour-guides'.

If you are interested in becoming a Christmas Host please contact Rob at VAO on 872897 and he will put you in touch with HOST UK.
